

The White Buffalo - House Of Rising Sun (-6 semitons)

```
Tom: G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  is a suitcase and a gun
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  the only time he's satisfied
                             Bm D
There is a house in Charming Town
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Bm Gb Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  is when he's on the run
Bm D Gb
They call the Rising Sun
                    Bm D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  He fills his chamber up with lead Bm D Gb
And it's been the ruin of many a poor girl
    Bm Gb7 Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  and takes his pain to town Bm D E
And me, Oh God, I'm one
                         Bm D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  only pleasure he gets out of life
Bm Gb Bm
If I listened to my mama \,
   Bm D Gb
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  is bringing another man down
Lord I'd be home today
Bm D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   (Bm D E G Bm D Gb Bm D E G Bm Bm Gb )
But I was young and foolish
Bm Gb7 Bm
Handsome rider led me astray
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  He's got one hand on the throttle
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm D Gb
     Bm D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  the other on the brake
Go tell my baby sister
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm D E
Bm D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  he's riding back to Redwood never do what I've done
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Bm Gb Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  To own his father's stake
Bm D
 To shun the house in Charming Town
    Bm Gb7 Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  (Bm Bm )
They call the Rising Sun
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  And me I wait in Charming Town

Bm D Gb
My Mother, she's a tailor
Bm D Gb7
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  The game my love has won Bm D E
She sewed my new blue jeans
Bm D E
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I'm staying here to end my life
My sweetheart he's a rambler
Bm Gb Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm Gb Bm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Down in the Rising Sun
Lord he rides in old machines
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  (Bm D E G Bm Gb )
 (Bm D E G Bm D Gb Bm D E G Bm Gb Bm )
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  I'm staying here to end my life % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right)
Bm D E G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Bm Gb Bm
Now the only thing a rambler needs
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  Down in the Rising Sun
       Bm D Gb
```

Acordes

